The fascinating Log Cabin Building Set is a typical American Toy for American boys and girls. Today it is truly America's National Toy. Many of the fathers and mothers who buy Lincoln Logs for their children, have played with Lincoln Logs themselves during their childhood days. Only a really good toy could stand this test of time.

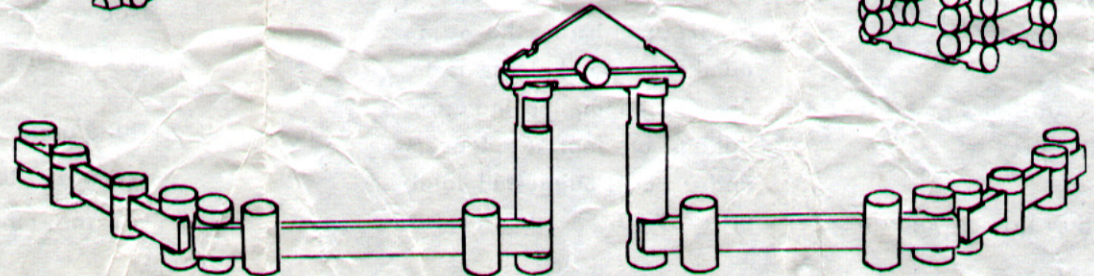

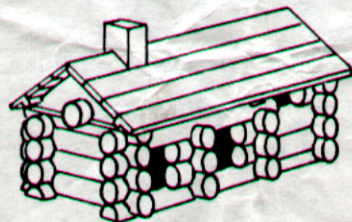

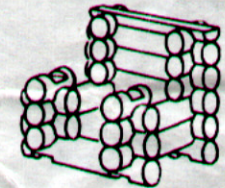

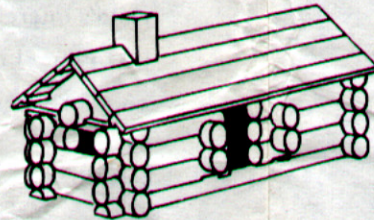

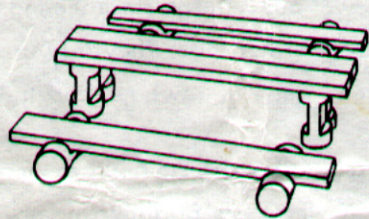

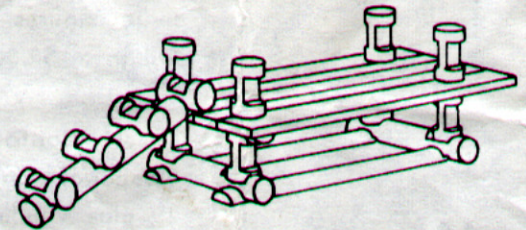

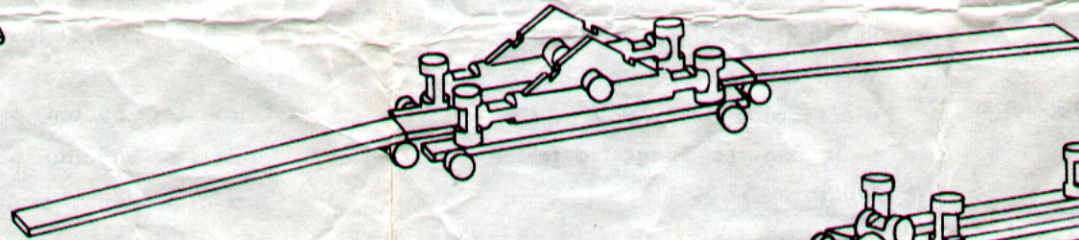

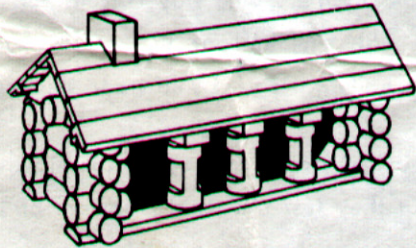

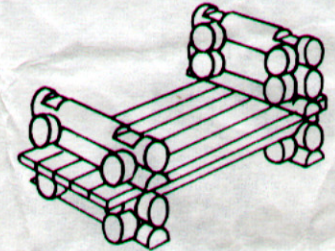

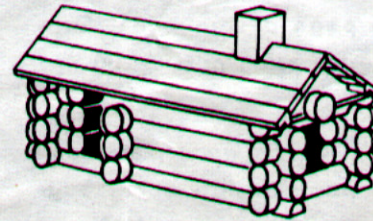

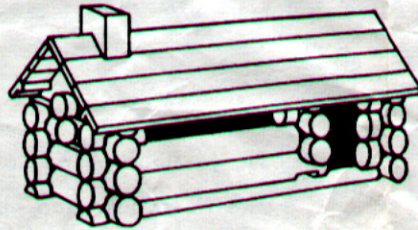

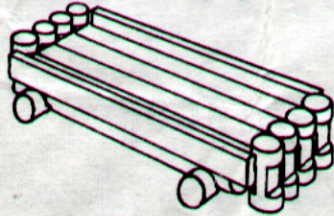

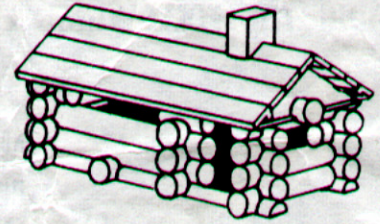

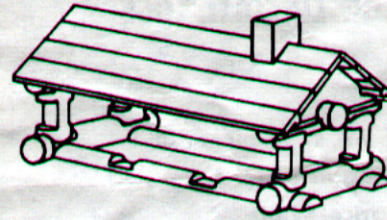

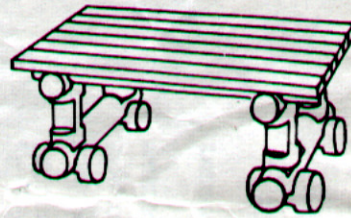

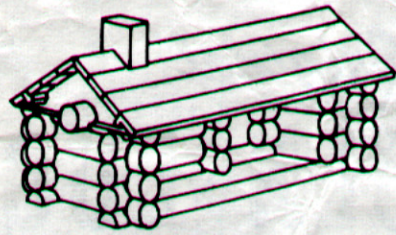

Lincoln Logs not only provide endless hours of pure enjoyment in the process of building, but they test the child's powers of ingenuity, encourage logical sequence of thought, and give a true feeling of accomplishment on completion of each structure. They stimulate the child's interest in the history of our country, since the log cabin itself is a symbol of our democratic way of life. They also dramatize the popular play-acting western scene of cowboys and Indians.

Lincoln Logs are made of selected wood, stained brown and waxed. Gables, chimneys, and roof pieces are brightly colored. Logs in all sets are standard $\frac{3}{4}$ " in diameter.

These are designed for the beginner in log construction. Other sets are pictured and described herein. These are suggested step-up sets for complete building satisfaction.
