Boys and Girls—

We indorsed this Steering Sled.
Our name is on every one.

Ruth tried her Blackboard and said "This is dandy"

"Fast—that's it," you'll say when you go coasting downhill on this Billy and Ruth sled. And you'll wonder at the ease in steering. Grooved steel runners give it speed—an improved steering head makes it steer better. Good and strong too.

She even wrote it on the blackboard. Then she lowered the blackboard and it became a desk with compartments for papers, etc. The copy roll with its 9 charts next caught her eye. These are most interesting and educational. Blackboard is 41 inches high, attractively finished and folds up too.

Boys— Look!

BIG WIND-UP TRAIN OUTFIT

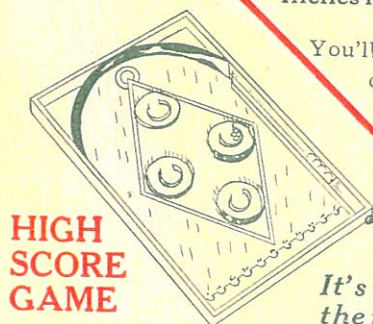

Inches longer than most—and there's 3 cars too. Bell and Brake

You'll like this smooth-running wind-up train outfit that carries out all the detail of those you see on the big railroads. Up-to-the-minute red locomotive with copper trim, tender and 3 cars.

29½ inches long.

Boys, you could load up the Snappy Boy wagon with a weight equal to your own, hook it on back of an automobile, drive across the country and this wagon would still be ready to turn around and come right back—that's how well built it is. You'll be using your Snappy Boy year in and year out, coasting, on your paper route or carrying Mother's packages from the store.

Strong hardwood body. Big disc steel wheels and heavy rubber tires. Roller bearings for speed and ease in running. Channel steel supports.

Come in and see this Snappy Boy—get in and steer it—bring Dad along for he'll like it too.....
